The San Francisco Ceramic Circle brings together ceramics enthusiasts with people generally interested in visual arts. Our topics range from earthenware to porcelain, from traditional handcrafts to art studios to industrial production, and from antiquity to the present—everything on view at the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, and beyond. We emphasize Europe and North America, but most areas of historic and contemporary ceramics appear in our programs.

As an affiliate of the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, the SFCC sponsors public lectures at the Gunn Theater of the Legion of Honor. Speakers include distinguished curators, academic and independent scholars, and collectors. Topics range through design and technique to social history.

SFCC's annual business meeting is "Pot Night," in the ceramic sense. Members bring recent acquisitions, old favorites, and mystery items from their own collections. Our Summer Social takes us to a different locale in the Bay Area each year. SFCC members help each other with research, we have a ceramics library at the Legion of Honor, and the SFCC supports acquisitions at the Fine Arts Museums.
